This is Florida!!!!???? I woke up this morning and rolled over to find the outdoor thermometer reading a decidedly un-Florida like 18 degrees (or, for our Canadian friends, minus 8C). So I figured I'd trudge to the shower and stand under a steaming hot cascade. Fifteen minutes would be just the ticket to shake off the chill and get the day off to the right start. Turn the handle and PPPFFFTTTTTT I hear air, feel a rush of cold air but no water. Now what the heck? Yep, you guessed it my pump had a big ol' ice plug in it. Gees, this is the weather that chased me out of Upstate NY. To make things even more bizarre, I read one day this past week that the high and low temperature in Cold Bay, Alaska was exactly the same as Pensacola, Florida. Maybe polar bears should start migrating.....

Now what does all this have to do with BBMG's? Well, just like our latest weather, I think this past year was exciting if somewhat tumultuous for us. We've had some record highs and some unexpected lows but on balance, I think this year was a good one for us and one we can remember with smiles.

The year started with our traditional holiday party at the Streit's. It seems that we always have a great turnout for the party. Hmmm, what does that tell you? Maybe we should make all of our meetings parties. Hey wait, they are! This year's party will be on 1/16 at Mike and Julie's house. We are going to have a short drive beforehand starting at 4 PM. If the weather is like it's been for the past week, don't forget to bring your cabin blankets, a thermos of hot cocoa or maybe a space heater with a REAL long extension cord. You all know how great the heat in MG's works.

Of course the highlight of the year was Rendezvous. Just to remind you, I heard no one share a disappointment and we did not have one complaint. The hard work of Julie assisted by Mike, Jane, Dave, Wanda, Tom, Bill and everyone else who helped was rewarded by a perfect event that elicited beautiful compliments from numerous sources. If my memory does not fail, one of the stories I read about the event had the phrase "what can become the premier MG event in the southeast". That itself should send a wave of pride through the club members. And I have heard through the grapevine that Rendezvous 2011 is already in mind. I'm confident that it will live up to expectation.

There were a number of drives that many of us participated in during the year. However, the one that stands out is the one we tried to have. That Saturday in July gave us about 4 inches of rain and washed out a little of the enthusiasm not to mention some Lucas electrics. However, not to be dampened (pardon the pun) that Sunday was the day to be out. In fact a drive to the St. Mark's River that morning found several British car drivers we all know having breakfast at the Riverside Cafe. The river was so calm that the reflection of the wetland on the opposite side of the river as almost mirror like. I think that peaceful setting tended to erase some disappointment of the previous day. It just goes to show, there is nothing like the indomitable spirit of those of us who drive those little British cars. What's that old saying, "Press on Regardless." It certainly describes us and I know we will all get out again this year.

As for me, coming to the end of my tenure as PM and Co-PM is bittersweet for me. As I said, there have been some beautiful times and some that we just had to get through. However, I know the club is poised to move into the next period of its existence with confidence. As you'll remember, we adopted new by-laws this year. The new by-laws streamline the officers' and Board positions of the club to make it more flexible. This is the first year for the new format and for 2010, the nominations for office are as follows:

- Prime Minister - JP Brown
- Vice Chancellor - Dave Streit
- Chancellor of the Exchequer/Secretary - shared by Tom and Wanda Phares
- Mike and I will share the duties of the First Immediate Prime Minister

Each of the people nominated bring a wealth of knowledge and club history to the positions as well as enthusiasm as to where we go from here. They all have my full support and I know they can count on everyone during the next year. The election will be at the Holiday party on the 16th and if any one wishes to make a nomination from the floor, it will be accepted then.

In closing I just want to say thank you to all of you who gave me help and encouragement through these past 2 years. But moreover, thank you for the wonderful friendships that have developed over that time. I cherish each and every one of them. To me, more than anything else, that is what our club is all about. I think we have the best club and the best membership there is and I know 2010 will be another great year for BBMG's.

Magnetic drain plugs, according to an SAE paper which describes carefully documented tests, will double the life of transmissions and differentials. They extract all ferrous metal which the unit is continually creating and which may pass through and damage highly polished bearings with the unfiltered oil. The same is true of engines that do not have full flow filtration. They are a 100 percent contaminant remover as long as the contaminant is iron based, which we know is not always the case. Magnetic plugs are used extensively in aircraft and heavy machinery oil systems. Perhaps as important, they allow you to see wear in the unit in which they are installed. I found a piece of a gear tooth in one of my gearboxes. Upon disassembly I found a badly chipped tooth, which could have created very expensive damage. Gearboxes do not have a filter as engines do, so they have no protection. A magnetic drain plug is strongly recommended. In that no major parts supplier offers these items for XPAG/EG engines or any MG gearboxes, we can now provide them.
